Citizens Vote $100,000 Bond Issue

Citizens of Canyon showed by a vote of more than 3 to 1 that they realized the need for the water and sewer bonds and gave approval to the street bonds by the same ratio.

The water and sewer bonds carried by a vote of 150 for and 25 against. The street bonds passed by a vote of 145 for and 31 against.

Street improvement will be paid for by the city and the property owners on each side of the street sharing the cost one-third each. If a property owner does not wish to pay his share that will be left unpaved. It is hoped that there will be no vacant spots in the entire street.

All these bonds were sold at the meeting of the City Commission Monday evening.

The Columbina Securities Corporation of Texas from San Antonio were buyers. Bids were submitted by several companies who had men present at the meeting Monday night.

Mr. Harvey Schmidt of Amarillo has been employed as city engineer to plot and direct these improvements. He will submit plans immediately to the State Fire Insurrance Commission for approval.

Contracts will be let as soon as possible and work will begin as materials arrive thereafter.

Palisades Bought By Gordon Fuqua At Sheriff Sale

New owners of the Palisades Club section, which was sold at auction at the court house Tuesday to clear title, are J. Gordon Fuqua and associates.

The property sold for a cash consideration of $27,500.

It includes both the Palisades Club property, which is the east half of the section, and the former Palo Duro State Park, the west half.

It sold as a solid unit with the exception of properties within the section owned by private individuals.

Transfer of title to the State of Texas for the west 320 acres never was completed, following the sale of that property in the early depression years.

The Palisades Club itself has been closed for several years.

The new owners of the 640-acre beauty spot some eight miles south of Amarillo announced yesterday they plan to form a corporation and revive the project under the name of Rio Bonito Park, selling summer homesites.

The dam will be rebuilt to form a lake for fishing and boating and the park will be developed otherwise.

Considerable improvements already are in the park, including a large rock club house, deep well and windmill, and electric power from an adjacent line. A new caliche road has recently been completed from the Happy Glen road eastward about three and one-half miles, then south about a mile to the entrance gate of the park, making it easily accessible from Amarillo in all kinds of weather by driving south on the Washington Street road.

Associates of J. Gordon Fuqua in the Rio Bonita Park project have not been announced.

Summer Session Started Tuesday

Good Attendance With Varied Program Will Continue For a 10-Weeks Period

The summer session of West Texas State College promises to be the largest in several years according to enrollment indications at the end of the first day.

More than 400 students had completed all details of enrollment and had paid fees. Indications at noon Wednesday were that another 200 students will be at work on the campus in Canyon.

The Graduate Division shows an increase of at least 30%. The figure is expected to be higher than this by the end of the week.

Noticable in the enrollment lines is the large number of men. Apparently there will be more men in summer school this year than at any time since the late 1930's.

Several new faculty members are on campus working places made vacant by leaves of absence and resignations.

Miss Helen Whiteside, formerly physical instructor for girls in Canyon high school and late of the United States military service, has been employed in the department of physical education for women, taking the place made vacant by the resignation of Oma Wilson Ford.

In the business administration department teaching typing and machine bookkeeping is Miss Nola Belle Welch, regularly employed in the Lee Junior College, Goose Creek, Texas.

In the home economics department is Miss Margaret Owen, who will be in charge of the nursery school.

Miss Novella Goodman and Mrs. Mary Sligar are teaching education courses in their respective fields substituting this summer for Dr. Lloyd Smith and Miss Ruth Lowes. Dr. Smith is on leave on a special teaching assignment in one of the colleges of Indiana and Miss Lowes will study at Iowa State University.

It is likely that other faculty additions and changes will be made before the enrollment period is over.

It will be a 10 week session with July 4 observed as a holiday. August 11 will be baccalaureate Sunday and August 13 will be commencement day, with exercises in the evening.

Classes will be one hour in length and a 5-day week will be observed.

Organized play and recreational activities will be stressed this summer. Prof. L. E. Van Meter and Miss Ruth Cross will direct playnights. Several picnics are scheduled. Softball leagues will be popular among the male students. Swimming is a daily activity at the college's outdoor pool. Several college picnics have been placed on the calendar. Dr. A. K. Knott will sponsor freshman activities. Dr. A. M. Meyer is sponsor of the Graduate Club, which is an active summer organization.

College expansion will be evident to summer students. An annex to Randall Hall is well advanced in construction. Work has started on the all-college cafeteria. Materials are being assembled for the veterans' trailer town is to be expanded. And it is possible that completion of the addition to the Plains Museum will be attempted.

Mayor Urges Sanitary Rules

City Eager To Help Prevent Outbreak of Epidemics

Cleanup and sanitation measures by all residents of Canyon have been urged by Mayor W. A. Warren. The city now employs three full time men who do nothing but haul trash and garbage, and any accumulation of trash and garbage, if reported to city officials, will be disposed of immediately. With the current outbreak of polio in Texas, citizens should take extreme care that their premises are clean and in a sanitary condition.

Any leaky sewage pipes or water systems should be reported to city officials and if on city property the city will see that they are fixed. If on private property, the property owner should see that they are corrected immediately.

The city health officer will in the near future make an inspection of the alleys and garbage disposal areas and any unsanitary conditions will be reported and corrective measures taken.

Randall County Wheat Comes to Market Early

Wheat harvest is starting earlier this year than for any year within the memory of old time wheat growers. The first truck load of 1946 wheat harvested in Randall county came from the northeast part of the county and was grown by Albert Fithem in the Washburn community. This wheat was delivered to Kearns elevator in Amarillo.

The second load of wheat delivered from Randall county went to the Pullman Wheat Growers Association and was grown by Ernest Powell on his farm in the northeast part of the county.

No new wheat has been reported by elevators in Canyon, Happy or Umbarger. Most growers estimate that harvest will be well started by the end of next week and both ripening and yields will be very spotted.

Bread From Randall Wheat Feeds Hungry

Over 4,000,000 loaves of bread from Randall county wheat will go to feed the people made hungry by the war on their home fields.

A little over two and a quarter million pounds of wheat was sold to the Government by fifty-nine Randall county farmers, under the Emergency Wheat Purchase program, up to the closing date, Saturday, May 25.

The wheat shipped from Randall county was mostly high quality No. 1 dark hard winter wheat which is the class and grade used in the manufacture of the highest quality brands of flour.

This amount of wheat, if milled at the present American rate of extraction, would yield flour sufficient for about 3,500,000 loaves of bread. However, if milled at the European rate all the wheat will go into bread for human consumption and will yield flour to make over 4,000,000 loaves.

The largest lot of wheat sold from one farm was 7,244 bushels and the smallest lot was 25 bushels. The average for the 59 farmers was 647 bushels.

Farmers were paid $2.02 (No. 1 basis) per bushel for the wheat purchased by the Government. Protein premium of some lots brought the price to as much as $2.07 and a few lots of No. 2 and No. 3 wheat brought less.

Firecracker Shooters Must Face Penalty of City Ordinance

There is a city ordinance that forbids shooting of firecrackers within the city limits.

This ordinance carries with it a fine for violation.

Parents, children and young people should remember this for the ordinance is now in effect and will be enforced.

Articles and editorials have been written recently, calling attention to the danger of life and property that is being incurred by the promiscuous throwing of lighted crackers into passing automobiles and toward pedestrians.

The City Commission feels that to protect life and property in Canyon this ordinance must be enforced.

Joe Bonds Suffers Serious Head Injuries Friday

Five year old Joe Ed Bonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bonds, was seriously injured Friday afternoon on the highway at the Roadside Park south of town.

The Jowell community had come to the park for a picnic supper. As the children got from the cars, they made a dash for the other side of the highway to play. Joe Ed was being led by a cousin, Peggy Jo Bonds. Just as they reached the highway, he broke loose from her and started across the road. A bakery truck was coming down the road. The driver attempted to swing away from the children but was meeting a car and could not swing far enough to avoid a collision with Joe Ed and the rear of the truck.

Joe Ed was rushed to the Neblett Hospital where it was found that he had a broken jaw and other head and body injuries. On Tuesday he is doing well and it is hoped that he will now make a speedy recovery.

Editorials

A. F. Whitney, head of one of the striking railroad brotherhoods swears vengeance on the President. He said at first that he would use the $47,000,000 in the union treaury to defeat Truman in 1948. On sober second thought he changed his mind and said that he would spend only only $2,500,000 to defeat the President. Naturally no one expects him to carry out his threat. He was angry when he made the threat, and when a man is angry he says foolish things. Perhaps Whitney recalled the fact that John L. Lewis gambled the presidency of CIO when he sought to defeat Roosevelt for a third term and failed. Whitney probably did not realize his weak position with the public. Of 18 unions connected with the railroads only Whitney and Johnston re. ,sed to settle. Sixteen unions would have continued to work, but the two unions refused, thus throwing the balance of the men out. Whitney has probably cooled off by this time.

The United States is destined to eat less in the near future, in order that other countries may have a little more food. Far from hurting the health of the nation, medical spokesmen say it will do us good. In fact, the health magazine Hygeia, a publication of the medical profession and a recognized authority in its field, declares that "this cannot possibly harm the Average American citizen. Indeed it is likely to help him, since overweight after middle life is recognized as one of the important causes of abbreviated longevity." It then gives some practical suggestions for diminishing the consumption of wheat and fats, such as one-piece sandwiches, buckwheat cakes for breakfast, the substitution of fruits and other desserts for pastries and cakes, broiled instead of fried meat, and bread and jam without butter. The wholehearted manner in which our people have expressed a desire to share food with other nations, is encouraging. It is the mark of a reviving civilization.

It is reported that a majority of the people of Texas are opposed to abolishing the poll tax receipt as a means of voting. Yes, we agree with the majority that those who wish to take part in government should be willing to contribute at least $1.75 toward the support of their government. But what are we going to do about the recent Supreme Court Decision? What are we going to do about the almost certain repeal of the poll tax law by Congress? Only the unwise means of a Senate filibuster has kept the poll tax this long. One of these days the filibuster will fail. When it does, Texas will be up against the necessity of raising more than a million dollars for the school fund to replace the poll tax money; and will have to dig up many thousands of dollars to provide for an adequate system of registering voters. Reforms cost money.

We guess there are very few people who have not experienced an operation. The Newsman lived almost 61 years before going to the hospital for an operation. Well, we had that experience Friday—after this was written. A specialist is trying to make a good eye out of a bad one. We can now swell up with importance and refer to the time "when we were in the hospital." Our social standing has been raised. Operations seem to be the prevailing subject in all good social events. From now on we shall do our best to bore you with our experiences—provided the operation is successful.

We see where students of the University of Texas held a rabble-rousing session in protest against Dr Painter accepting the presidency of the institution. A law student from West Texas let the pro-Rainey crowd speak, and then told them off with some good old West Texas language. He advised them to attend to their own affairs. And then came a protest from a large group of students who swear they will fight the election of Homer P. Rainey, who wants to be governor. It looks like there will be plenty of fireworks on the campus during the coming election.

It's easy to kill a man in Texas, but a tough job to convict the killer. Who's fault? The people who run the courts and sit on the juries.

INFLATION IS HERE

Despite all the "hold-the-line" talk we are hearing, we are only kidding ourselves if we think it has been held.

Inflation is a reality today, and no good purpose can be served by playing ostrich and hiding our head in the sand to blind ourselves to the fact.

Any housewife can tell you about the black market and the inferior substitute goods she has to buy today—the facts of inflation which OPA chooses to ignore.

With material and labor costs constantly rising, we also must face further price rises this year, before we can achieve the industrial production necessary to drive prices downward through competition and increased efficiency.

The longer that shackles are kept on production the higher the bidding is going to be on scarce goods, and the longer prices are going to stay at inflated levels.

The Gallup Poll indicates that the nation is fast becoming disgruntled with the Democratic administration and is swinging away from Truman. The fighting speeches of Truman on the labor situation helped him with industry, but it cost him heavily with the labor groups—and there are more votes among the laboring clases than among management. Truman is not responsible for conditions he inherited, but he will have to pay the penalties.

Now that Senator Carter Glass is dead, we hope that Congress will pass a bill which will make it impossible for a reoccurence similar to his case. Glass had been sick since 1942 and had not attended a session of Congress for four years. He refused to resign. Perhaps there are some instances in which a state would be better off with only one Senator. But the people have the legal right to full representation in the Senate, and not to be impeded by a sick man.

A CIO organizer has been invited by the ministers of Dallas to meet with them and to discuss his program. Evidentily the chap thinks his cause is perfectly sound, or that he is a fast talker. At any rate, it shows that the ministers are getting information from source material. No one can blame them for this. However, no one would suggest to any of them to go out and get drunk for the purpose of getting firsthand information about the liquor business, or getting the "feel" of having been under the influence of liquor.

We were asked the other day why The Canyon News did not enter its editorials in the Texas Press Association contest. Frankly, we do not consider the opinions expressed on this page as "editorial." These are the opinions of a busy man who takes too little time in writing so-called editorials; and gives too little thought to the content of these paragraphs. We learned what little we know about newspaper work under an old fashioned newspaper man who would fire any writer who took more than a half column to write the most important stories of the day. Furthermore, he was opposed to editorials of more than 5 or 6 inches in length. His theory was that no one will read a long winded article, either in the news column or on the editorial page, any more than an audience will follow a long winded speaker. We have never gotten over those old ideas.

Most Republicans, and many Democrats, are going to try to make Texas a two-party state. The argument is being used that with the invasion of CIO in the South it is time for an opposition party to the CIO, which is seeking to take over the Democratic Party. Many leading newspapers of Texas are making this suggestion. Something may work out. But we expect to see the voters of Texas become so fed up with CIO that every candidate it supports in 1946 will be thoroughly whipped.

Now that John L. Lewis has succeeded in putting over in part his miners welfare idea, when will the other unions make such a demand? Lewis lost his fight to turn this money into his own fund, and it will be administered by a committee, thus defeating the original purpose of Lewis to build up a powerful slush fund. When we see all of the griefs of big business concerns, with their strikes and strife, it makes us feel good to be just a country hick with no great industry to worry about.

We wish there was some way to get after those fellows who sell fire crackers to boys along the highway. If the boys would shoot the fireworks there in the country where they bought them, it would possibly be all right to waste their money in this manner. But when they drive into town and throw lighted firecrackers at pedestrians, and sometimes into moving cars, great damage is liable to result. We don't expect to convince men who are making a big profit on the sale of fireworks to stop their sales, but we do wish that we could appeal to boys, and often girls, to use a little common sense when they go to firing these dangerous weapons.

It is more and more evident that there is no misunderstanding between the United States and Russia. Our diplomats know what Russia is up to; what Russia wants, and just how far Stalin is willing to go in order to get his way. We may have been a little late in declaring a foreign policy, but now Washington knows what is going on in the world. Mistrust of Russia has succeeded misunderstanding. There is no doubt about this if you will read reports from the meetings of the foreign diplomats.

Rain, hail, storms have swept the nation, with the exception of the Panhandle and West Texas in general. The drouth has severely damaged the wheat crop in this section. But crops have been hailed out and washed out in other sections. So far the only really bad weather we have had was one duster. We feel sympathetic to farmers of other sections who have lost their crops in storms. Maybe we shall receive enough rain to raise a good row crop, which is so badly needed by the stockmen and farmers of West Texas.

Memorial Day was observed in all parts of the world this year. American soldiers are in every Hemisphere. As our soldiers on foreign soil look toward America, we wonder if they do not think that the nation has let them down. Strife, strikes, turmoil exist throughout the nation. And on top of that we are faced with another World War because of the selfishness of men.

Roger Babson looks at conditions in America with a long range attitude. He thinks that strikes should be allowed to run their course. We have become accustomed to doing without things so long that now is the time to settle labor disputes by the starvation route—both for management and labor. It's a tough order, but it could be effective. In spite of the settlement of the several major strikes, the nation will be pestered with other costly strikes in the immediate future.

Governor Coke Stevenson announced Thursday that he would not seek a third term. He expressed appreciation of the thousands of letters which he had received urging him to run. According to the last poll in Texas, Rainey and Sadler were leading in the Governor's race, provided Stevenson did not run. Of course things can change a lot when the leading contender eliminates himself. Personally we are very sorry to see the Governor reach this decision, but we are not surprised. He has been pretty much of a stickler for precedents, and a third term for a governor of Texas would break all precedents. We shall expect to see the political lines change rapidly as about half of the voters are forced to seek new alliances for this race. At the present time Jester looks like the best man in the race. Time may make changes.

Boyce House of Fort Worth came very nearly being elected lieutenant governor four years ago. His friends have shoved him into the race again this year. We are confident that the man who defeats Boyce House will be the next lieutenant governor. His weekly radio program and the thousands of books he has published the last few years have given him a wide following. In addition to this, he is liberal in speaking engagements, and always delights his audiences.

Labor leaders are boosting to nominate Henry Wallace for president in 1948, with Senator Claude Pepper as his running mate. The storm signal is up in the Democratic party.

Why has the President got it in so for the armed forces? Just picture John L. Lewis as a top sergeant!

Grover Sellers Opens Campaign For Governor

Sulphur Springs, June 4—Grover Sellers will bring his campaign for governor to this section next week as the first leg of a seven-week intensive swing over the state.

Accompanied by Radio's Early Birds, Jimmie Jefferies and Peg Moreland, and a band, the attorney general will start through West Texas and the Panhandle on June 11, three days after he opens his campaign in his home town of Sulphur Springs.

Friday's schedule calls for sops at 10 a. m. at Canyon, at 11 a. m. at Tulia, noon at Plainview, 3:30 at Littlefield, 5 p. m. at Levelland and 8 p. m. at Lubbock. Saturday, Sellers will speak at Crosbyton at 9:30 a. m., Dickens at 11 a. m., Seymour at 3 p. m., Olney at 4:30 p. m. and Jacksboro at 7:30 p. m.

Sellers' campaign will be launched at a Sellers Send-off being arranged here by Hopkins County friends who have watched his climb from country school teacher through two judgeships to the state's highest lawyer's job.

State Representative Claude Gilmer of Kerrville, speaker of the House of Representatives during Governor Coke Stevenson's current administration, will introduce Sellers over a state-wide "hook-up. Sulphur Springs citizens plan to entertain 10,000 visitors who are expected here for the opening.

New Chemical Discovery Has Widespread Use

A liquid that flows like water at 70 degrees below zero, a grease that doesn't melt at 400 above, and rubber that can withstand either extreme — these are a few of the unique members of a whole new chemical family that promises to rank with synthetic rubber, high-octane gasoline, and other materials as one of the outstanding discoveries of the last 50 years.

Called silicones, the new family is derived from common sand by modification with chemicals from brine, coal and petroleum. By manipulating the molecules of these substances, chemists are able to create an almost infinite variety of materials, any one of which may be "custom-built" to fit a specific need or application in any number of fields.

The main branches of the silicone family are resins, liquids and rubber, with compounds and greases as prominent offshoots. They have already been used to strengthen electrical insulation, to protect warplane engines at high altitudes, to waterproof glass and porcelain insulators in radio and radar equipment, and to seal out water from high-power marine searchlights. They may be used as the base in heat - resistant paints for exhaust stacks, hot-air ducts and the like; as a polish for optical or general-purpose glass; as a "foam-stopper" in lubricating oils; or even as a moisture-proof coating for clothing and shoes. Their potential applications, in fact, are practically limitless.

Butter Provides Much of Daily Vitamin A Need

According to a press release of the Agricultural Research administration of the USDA, the average vitamin A value of the creamery butter produced in the United States is more than 15,000 international units per pound.

When people eat as much butter as they did just before the war (about 18 pounds annually per capita) butter furnishes about 740 international units per capita daily, or about 15 per cent of the daily allowance recommended for normal adults by the Food and Nutrition board.

The average vitamin A value per quart of milk consumed in all its forms is 1,530 international units, and when the average consumption rate is 1.052 quarts daily per capita, as it was in 1941, milk and milk products furnish about 1,600 international units of vitamin A daily per capita, or nearly ⅛ of the recommended allowance.

Game Need Open

Our forefathers did not find game everywhere in the primitive forests they explored simply because most game species cannot exist, let alone thrive, in deep woods. The long record of frontiersmen with the know-how of living off the country who perished of starvation in the unspoiled wilderness attests to that. Towering trees offer no forage for browsing animals, such as deer. The fruits and nuts their high tops may produce are available only for brief periods annually and, for most species, are only items in a diet, anyhow. The shade created by a dense canopy, combined with the demands made for nutrients and moisture by their interlocking root systems, discourages the growth of low plants which might render sustenance to animals. Such forests offer but one of the many things game needs and that is shelter—shelter from extremes of weather and from enemies.

Say It With Tulips!

Anxious though the Dutch are to express in concrete form their gratitude to their allies for the liberation of their country, they lack the physical resources to make such an expression of appreciation possible. However, the idea has been offered that tulip gardens be presented on behalf of the nation to the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Republic, and also to Sweden and Switzerland who have extended such great help to relieve the hunger and distress of the Netherlands people.

A national committee has been organized to collect funds and coordinate the plans for such a presentation. It is hoped that eventually tulip beds will bloom in front of the Capitol in Washington, the House of Commons in London, on the Red Square in Moscow and before the government buildings in Ottawa, Stockholm and Berne.

Protect Party

A favorite place for epidemics to start during warm weather is at a carelessly run church or club supper or picnic. All who have anything to do with preparing or serving food at these affairs should be required to wash their hands thoroughly with soap and hot water. All food containers for either serving or storing should be well washed, rinsed and scalded. Sometimes for large groups a shortage of dishes or silver will mean that articles used for an earlier course must be washed and used again later in the meal. Such washing should be thorough in spite of the need for speed. It is a good idea for every entertainment committee to appoint one member to act as supervisor charged with the responsibility of seeing that these precautionary measures are carried out.

We don't understand why modern girls are so rude as to let their boy friends go home without breakfast.

My husband and I stopped for refreshments at a small town drug store. As we sat in a booth with our sandwiches and iced coffee, the proprietress stood silently behind the counter, frankly listening to all we had to say.

"I wonder," I said lightly, "just how much caffeine there is in what I am drinking."

"I held my glass up to look thru it at the light. As I looked up, my eyes met those of the proprietress. In an irate voice she flung at me: "Not in my coffee is there any caffeine. My coffee is pure!"—Betty Huey Saunders.

"Why did they separate?"
"Nobody knows."

Find Unbalanced Diet Retards Animal Growth

Unbalance in the diet is just beginning to be appreciated. As scientists focus attention on the idea that one element in food eaten may throw another out of balance, they will probably discover many ways to bring about better nutritional balance in the feeding of human beings and animals.

How the addition of one mineral in a normal diet may upset the balance of other elements and lead to nutritional disturbance was shown recently in work at the U. S. Plant, Soil and Nutrition laboratory, Ithaca, N. Y. Scientists there chose a diet that normally is adequate and supports good growth and health in laboratory animals. To it they added a little zinc. Then, instead of growing normally and remaining in health, the animals failed in growth in two or three weeks and developed severe anemia. The added zinc somehow had thrown the diet out of balance. Three minerals are known to help in maintaining healthy blood—iron, copper and cobalt. So to the zinc-enriched diet, a mixture of iron, copper and cobalt was added. This time the blood of the animals remained normal, and no anemia developed. When the protective mineral was traced down, it was found to be copper.

The scientists conclude that the addition of a mineral, zinc, to an adequate diet throws the copper in the diet out of balance so that it becomes copper deficient. This causes anemia, because copper is needed to build hemoglobin, the red pigment of blood. Now, if more copper is added, the diet again is in balance, because the copper becomes adequate. Then the blood remains normal. Other research workers report similar situations with other minerals.

Develop Better Eggs For Table Usage

Eggs that retain good table quality for two weeks at a temperature of 100 degrees are the product of recent research by poultry scientists of the department of agriculture. Such eggs are, of course, infertile, as 100 degrees is approximately hatching temperature. Most eggs are practically unfit for table use after one week at that temperature. The hens that lay the heat-resisting egg were developed by selective breeding from stock that had produced eggs of unusually good keeping quality.

Several other lines of chickens that lay eggs superior in various characteristics have also been bred. The eggs of one line have a larger percentage of thick white than usual, so that they poach and fry better. Another line lays eggs almost entirely free from blood spots. Still other lines have thicker, less porous, and stronger egg shells than usual, enabling them to stand shipping and storage exceedingly well. All these improvements are the result of applying principles of breeding and selection that are well within the reach of progressive poultrymen.

Department officials emphasize that the studies are directed toward improving the market quality of eggs and that the ability of some eggs to stay fresh under adverse conditions is not to be construed as encouraging such conditions.

Hybrid Corn

Nearly two acres out of every three (64.1 per cent) of the corn crop this year have been planted to hybrid corn, according to the U. S. department of agriculture estimate prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. In the corn belt proper the proportion is much greater. The non-hybrid corn planted this year was mainly in areas where breeding has not been pushed so rapidly because the crop is less important. For that reason, well adapted hybrids are not yet available in some of these areas, and in others there is not enough of the superior seed corn to supply the demand. Ten states have more than 75 per cent of their corn acreage in hybrid corn this year. These are: Iowa, approximately 100 per cent; Illinois and Indiana, 98; Ohio, 96; Minnesota, 91; Wisconsin, 89; Missouri, 88; Nebraska, 85; Michigan, 80 and New Jersey, 76 per cent. Ten years ago, the bureau estimates, the hybrid corn acreage was 1.1 per cent, or 1,140,000 acres, compared with 60,347,000 acres in 1945.

Used Nitrogen

Europe, including the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, produced and used more nitrogen than all the rest of the prewar world. Its production was 4 times that of Asia and about 5½ times that of either North America or South America. Production in North America slightly exceeded that in South America. Europe used 3 times as much nitrogen as Asia, about 3⅛ times as much as North America and 15 times as much as Africa, the next largest consumers. Only South America and Europe produced nitrogen in excess of internal requirements. South American exports were more than 6½ times those of Europe in volume and represented a high percentage of the entire production, whereas European exports were equivalent to less than 3 per cent of production. Europe exceeded all others in the use of nitrogen per unit area of arable land and of arable land and permanent meadows and pastures.

Deer cannot live in a grassland, and antelope cannot live in a forest.

Every Town Needs An Old Fashioned House Cleaning

A good old fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who said in Austin, "From a practical standpoint the old adage that 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness' is still well worth emphasizing."

A general clean-up program of state-wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include surface cleaning, drainage, the graveling of streets and alleys, the cleaning of all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

"The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat horborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be," said Mr. Cox, "of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid, and poliomyelitis. Good community housekeeping and ordinary sanitary measures require the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of such diseases, and insure good health protection throughout the State."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that many dangerous diseases are filth-borne, and the only possible way to controll them is to eliminate the insanitary conditions responsible for their spread.

Summer Students Will Find Variety Of Sports in Recreational Program

Coach Leslie Van Meter and Miss Ruth Cross are busily engaged in planning the summer recreational program.

"We plan," said Coach Van Meter, "to offer many types of inside and outside sports to the summer students and to the public. At present nothing is definite on the play nights which were held here in the summers before the war, but we will probably have them once a month at least, if not more often. We will organize softball leagues and volleyball and horseshoe tournaments in addition to the recreation offered at the swimming pool."

The outside pool, which was opened May 20 to the public, will continue to be made available to the students and public during the summer.

The schedule for swimming is as follows: College classes, Monday through Friday 1:30 to 3:30; public Monday through Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 and Saturday and Sundays, 2 until 4 p. m. On the first day of June, the pool will start operating the night hours of 7 to 8:30 for the public. Hank Decker, Metz LaFollette, Berl Clinton, and Betty Brown will be on hand this summer as life guards.

Adult season tickets of ten swims are now on sale for two dollars and children's season tickets of twenty swims will sell for the same price. Single swim tickets for adults are 25 cents and children single swims are 15 cents.

The Texas State Teachers Association has just completed a survey among city and county school superintendents to determine the condition of the teacher personnel in Texas. Replies were received from 945 superintendents representing 36,057 teaching positions or about 80 per cent of the total in Texas.

Since the opening of school in September, 3,633 teachers have resigned their positions which represents about 10 per cent of the total. Of the teachers included in the survey, 5,546 were listed with substandard qualifications which represents approximately 15 per cent of the total.

Local districts are exerting every effort possible to keep teachers in the classrooms but many superintendents report that it appears impossible to fill all of their positions this coming year because of the low salaries paid and the number of resignations which are anticipated at the close of the current school year. Practically all of the cities in Texas report resignations averaging 13 per cent.

Many local school districts are voting to increase their tax rate and will increase property valuations in order to secure more revenue for teachers' salaries. A total of 110 independent school districts have voted a tax increase above the rates they levied a year ago and 143 report that they plan to hold elections for tax rate increases soon. In 40 counties, one or more common school districts have increased their tax rate and 10 counties report that they plan to hold elections for this purpose soon.

It is estimated that 8,500 Texas teachers entered the armed forces and industry from September 1944 through 1945. However, only 1,277 have returned to teaching.

In looking over the results of the survey, Elizabeth Koch of San Antonio, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, said: "If we are to keep a staff of well trained teachers in the public schools of Texas, we must materially increase salaries. There is no other solution to the problem. The continued exodus of our teachers from the classrooms presents an alarming condition. We must give our attention to this problem immediately with the hope that local communities and the next session of the legislature fill provide greatly increased support for the public schools."

Seek Arctic Bases To Thwart Attack

Government Taking Steps To Defend Far North.

WASHINGTON.—The government is taking steps to protect the nation from air attack through its unguarded Arctic approaches, it was learned here.

Receiving major attention is a proposed long-range agreement with Iceland providing for peacetime use by the army air forces of American-built Meeks field, one of the world's largest and most strategically situated bases.

This was revealed by reliable sources coincident with warnings from top American air force generals that the United States is vulnerable to attack through the Polar regions. In the future, they said, Polar projection maps must take precedence in defense planning over the old Mercator projection which was designed for an era when transportation was confined to the surface.

Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, who commanded the strategic air forces in Europe and later in the Pacific, told the senate military affairs committee that "trans-Polar flying leaves America wide-open at the top." This followed Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle's admonition to the committee that "anyone who is thinking of the defense of this country or its vulnerability to attack has got to start with a Polar projection."

General Spaatz also said that "there can be only one defense (against air attacks) — invincible air supremacy in this hemisphere, and along the air approaches thereto."

Action is being taken to obtain rights to hemisphere air bases necessary to this type of defense. Negotiations are in progress with Brazil for joint use of American-built bases there, and with Ecuador for use of bases on the Galapagos Islands which, situated in the Pacific west of Ecuador, guard the approaches to the Panama canal. These also were built by the United States.

Television Set Outlook Good, Says RCA Official

CAMDEN, N. J. — Between 300,000 and 400,000 television receiving sets will be sold in six cities next year and this figure will be doubled in 1947, it was predicted recently by Frank M. Folsom, executive vice president of the Radio Corporation of America. The six cities are Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Albany and Schenectady.

Asserting that television was just about ready to go in a big way, now that new transmitting equipment is becoming available, Folsom said the RCA-Victor division, of which he is in charge, would go into production next April. An average price for receiving sets would be around $300, he said, but some sets might be as low as $150.

Folsom and four of his top executives went over the entire electronics field with a group of newspaper reporters who are on the semifinal lap of a nation-wide reconversion survey.

Production of new radio sets is so far behind schedule because of shortages in component parts that the entire industry will do well to turn out 400,000 units by Christmas, Folsom said. The war production board has forecast 2,500,000 sets by that time.

Nothing new has been added to radio receivers since before the war, according to Joseph B. Elliott, general manager of the RCA-Victor home instrument division, but work is well along on a set only 6 inches long and a little more than half that wide. A one-third reduction in size also has been made in a combined radio and victrola with an automatic record changer.

'Foes' of Black Market Feather Their Own Nests

TOKYO. — The newspaper Yomiuri Hochi said recently that Jap officials at Osaka who were responsible for prosecuting black market dealings in sugar had apportioned among themselves 1,500 pounds which had been seized as evidence.

"Persons concerned in the sugar scandal currently are being punished," the newspaper added.

All Tokyo Restaurants Out of Bounds for Yanks

TOKYO. — All restaurants and drinking places in Tokyo have been placed out of bounds for American servicemen. Military police authorities, who imposed the ban after they found generally unsanitary conditions, said the order would be lifted as proprietors clean up their places to meet United States sanitary requirements.

Dark Bread Is Urged As Saver of Wheat

LONDON. — The ministry of food, reporting a world shortage of wheat, said that thousands of tons of flour could be saved through the use of a darker bread.

It also urged substituting potatoes for bread, serving bread in restaurants only when customers asked for it, and serving half rolls instead of whole ones.

Air mail stamps were first placed on sale June 16, 1924.

A certain bank made it a practice to pay out new bills whenever possible. One day when a woman appeared, the paying teller apologized because he was unable to give her new, clean bills and had to pay her in old dirty ones. He asked her if she was afraid of microbes on the bills.

"Microbes, no!" exclaimed the woman. "I'm a teacher and you don't think a microbe could live on my salary, do you?"

The doorbell pealed. Peering from an upstairs window, the lady of the house saw that the man at the door was carrying a salesman's grip.

"I don't want none," she shouted.

"Lady," returned the salesman sharply, "how do you know I'm not selling grammars?"

The teacher had forbidden the eating of candy and the chewing of gum during school time. One day she became suspicious of a lump in Jimmie's cheek. "Jimmie, are you eating candy or chewing gum?" she asked.

"No ma'am," replied Jimmie. "I'm just soaking a prune to eat at recess."

P. T. A. MEMBERS EXPRESS APPRECIATION OF BOARD

At the last meeting of the Public School Parent and Teachers Association a resolution was passed to inform the school board that the organization would back it in any reasonable financial program.

This resolution was passed to express, in part, the appreciation of the P. T. A. for the excellent work that the school board has done in these trying times.

The Canyon Public Schools have been very fortunate during the period of teacher shortage, that they have not suffered for competent teachers as many other school systems.

The teachers and the board have worked hard and faithfully and the patrons and friends of the school are grateful for this attitude.

Mrs. Mildred Sullivan and daughter of Chula Vista, California, are visiting relatives in Canyon.

H. C. Roffey, Linneus, Mo. is in Canyon attending at the bedside of his wife who is seriously ill.

RAISING THE ANTE

"I wish to announce," said the auctioneer, "that a gentleman here has had the misfortune to lose a wallet containing $500. He tells me that a reward of $25 will be given to anyone returning it."

After a silence a man in the crowd shouted "I'll give $30."

A wire had fallen across Main street, and no one would touch it for fear it was "alive." When the news reached the editor of the town paper he acted promptly.

"Send down two reporters," he ordered. "One to touch the wire and the other to write the story.

Drive Carefully During the Summer

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT OF RANDALL COUNTY

POLICE DEPARTMENT
OF CANYON

HIGHWAY PATROL
OF TEXAS

Are you really one of the best drivers in
YOUR COMMUNITY?

Here's a way to rate yourself in the
POLICE TRAFFIC SAFETY CHECK

Let's be honest, now . . . remember, your own safety and that of your family depend on the way you drive

YES	NO		YES	NO		YES	NO
☐	☐	1. Do you always signal before turning or coming to a stop (never play guessing games with the driver behind you)?	☐	☐	4. Do you obey traffic lights—even when you're in a hurry?	☐	☐	8. Do you know and observe the rules of the road in your community? (Frankly, now, have you ever looked them up?)
☐	☐	2. Do you always come to a full stop at a stop sign (never coast through)?	☐	☐	5. Do you drive in and turn from the proper traffic lane?	☐	☐	9. Do you keep alert when driving—keep your mind on traffic?
☐	☐	3. Do you give the pedestrian a break even though he may not have the right of way? (Remember, you walk sometimes, too.)	☐	☐	6. Do you refuse to drink before driving? (Think, now, before answering.)	☐	☐	10. Do you drive within the speed limits—never yield to the temptation to do a little "low altitude flying"?
			☐	☐	7. Do you drive with extra caution in fog, rain or snow and on wet or icy pavement?

10 "YES" answers—Are you really that good?
8 to 10 "YES" answers—Good driving. We need more of you!
6 to 8 "YES" answers—Fair driving. You must improve.
Less than 6 "YES" answers—Poor driving. You're headed for trouble; possibly injury and serious financial loss!

P. S. Take another look at your score. Would your family and friends rate you the same?

Seriously, don't you wish when you and your family are on the streets that all drivers could truthfully answer Yes to all ten questions? Of course you do—and the next driver feels the same way about it. So start today to improve your score.

The Police Traffic Safety Check sponsored by International Association of Chiefs of Police.

(PREPARED BY THE ADVERTISING COUNCIL IN COOPERATION WITH THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL AND INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHIEFS OF POLICE)

CHECK YOUR CAR!

These are the mechanical features that will be examined in the Police Traffic Safety Check:

BRAKES—Do they need adjustment? How about the hand brake?

LIGHTS—Do any bulbs need replacing? Are headlights properly focused and aimed? Are tail and stop lights in good condition?

TIRES—Are they all in safe condition? (No cuts, fabric breaks, excessive wear?)

WINDSHIELD WIPERS—Do they operate satisfactorily? Do blades need replacing?

HORN—Does it operate easily and when you need it?

Are there any other safety items that need attention, such as steering, defects in glass, rear view mirror, muffler, etc? (Have these checked regularly.)

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

How to avoid falling hair: Jump quickly to one side.

To keep a horse from slobbering: Teach him how to spit.

In time of danger, what is more to be desired than presence of mind? Absence of body.

Tell a woman who is trying on shoes that one foot is larger than the other, and you have lost a sale; but tell her that one foot is smaller than the other, and you have gained a customer.

Getting around over Texas:

When the First National Bank in Cisco was remodeled, the side door opening on to the alley was eliminated. It was through that door the Santa Claus robbers marched out, using bank customers and members of the bank's force as shields, during the battle that cost three lives, back in 1927. And the pole near the jail in Eastland, from which the Santa Claus later was hanged is still standing.

A tribute to our teachers, entitled "Builders," written by an unknown author:

A builder builded a temple; he wrought it with grace and skill,
Pillars, groins and arches, all fashioned to work his will.
Men said when they saw its beauty,
"It shall never know decay.
Great is thy skill, O builder, thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher builded a temple with loving and infinite care,
Planning each arch with patience, laying each stone with prayer,
None praised his unceasing efforts; none knew of his wondrous plan.
For the temple the teacher builded was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple, crumbled into the dust.
Low lies each stately pillar, food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded will last while the ages roll,
For this beautiful unseen temple is a child's immortal soul.

"Why do they call him a gentleman farmer?"

"Because he only raises his hat!"

Spend More For Family Laundry

Americans Form Habit, Due To Conditions of War, of Sending Out Wash.

CHICAGO.—Americans are spending more for laundry than ever before. Sending the family wash to a commercial laundry gained momentum during the war because of the convenience and the shortage of household help. The industry believes the habit is firmly entrenched and that having eliminated the weekly wash day, housewives will not be anxious to revive it, says the Chicago Tribune.

Laundries collected 409 million dollars for services in 1939. Industry sources estimate this year's total at more than 620 million dollars.

"There is every reason to expect that household laundry service will continue at a level higher than the prewar figure," said George H. Johnson, general manager of the American Institute of Laundering.

Maybe Spend More.

A survey of 3,500 customers of the Institute's one plant in Joliet, Ill., Johnson said, disclosed that 98 per cent of the families serviced expect to send as much or more wash to laundries as they did during the war. Only 1½ per cent indicated they intend to send less.

As to what the housewife can expect from laundry service, Johnson said: "The customer can look forward to a return to peacetime service and quality as rapidly as the plant can put those improvements into effect."

Laundries again will sew on missing buttons and turn or change shirt collars and cuffs. Special starching will be resumed and there will be broader use of waterproofing and flameproofing of draperies and curtains.

Customers in crowded areas where delivery has been slow will get relief as soon as the local situation clears up, the institute manager asserted. But in some communities where service has been on a four to seven day schedule, he added, plants may continue their war time routings after delivery restrictions end.

Lack Skilled Workers.

Lack of skilled workers has slowed down laundry operation more than any one other factor, Johnson said. Whereas a skilled pressing machine operator can turn out 30 shirts an hour, production in some cases dropped as low as 12 to 15 during the war.

The girl who was accustomed to working in a laundry had just the skills needed in war plants," Johnson said. "When the over-all employment picture improves, laundry service will improve as well."

Aging machinery has been another deterrent to the commercial laundry. Normal obsolescence replacements run 28 million dollars a year. Industry sources estimate pent up demand at 100 million dollars for machinery alone.

War Gadgets Are Sealed For Possible Future Use

PITTSBURGH.—The instruments of war, temporarily in disuse, are not going to be beaten into ploughshares.

Rather, they will be scientifically sealed in specially built containers and treated by a new process that will prevent corrosion, decay or deterioration.

At Dravo corporation's Neville Island plant near Pittsburgh, generating units, height finders and directors are being stored in the all-steel, hermetically-sealed containers.

As soon as the container is filled, the vessel is welded, the air is pumped out, and nitrogen gas is forced in.

Nitrogen, an almost inert gas, won't react with any of the materials in the apparatus.

Silica gel, a chemical dehydrator, also is put into the container, to absorb any trace of moisture that might still be clinging to the container.

After that processing, temperature changes will not harm the contents of the containers.

Study Methods of Using Anti-Blood Clot Drug

SAN FRANCISCO. — Methods for using dicumarol, a new drug found effective in treatment of blood clotting, were being studied recently by specialists at the 16th annual postgraduate heart symposium at University of California hospital.

Col. Irving S. Wright, consultant in medicine at the 9th service command headquarters, reported discovery of the drug, which he said had reduced fatalities from 19 per cent to 1 per cent when applied in 1,000 cases.

Saxony Mines Are Put Under Control of States

BERLIN, GERMANY. — The coal mining industry of Soviet occupied Saxony has been placed under state control, a provincial government announcement said. A state mining administration was set up to administer the industry, which employs 20,000 miners. The nationalization was effected at a conference of workers and owners and government representatives, it was stated.

Three Square Meals Necessary for Health

The familiar expression, "three square meals a day," is more than a happy ideal in feeding children—it is a necessity for proper nutrition. Studies of nutrition scientists showed that if one meal a day is very light or omitted altogether, a child nearly always fails to get enough food and also the particular food he needs, even if other meals are ample. They also found that eating too little at breakfast or lunch usually results in irritability or fatigue before the next meal.

Because children can take only so much food at one time, they cannot make up by an extra heavy meal the nourishment missed at a skimpy or neglected meal. Therefore, the busy or careless mother who lets children go off to play or to school without a proper breakfast, or does not provide them with more than a pick-up for lunch, may unthinkingly contribute to poor nutrition in her family.

In planning the day's meals, the nutrition scientists advise that at least one-fourth of the food needed for the day should be provided at breakfast, and that more than one-third should be served at lunch, and at dinner or supper at night. They suggest that at least one fruit or vegetable (not counting potatoes) be served at every meal. At least once a day food rich in vitamin C should be served — tomatoes, citrus fruit, or strawerries, for example. Once a day also children should have green or yellow vegetable, rich in vitamin A. At every meal they should drink at least one tall glass of milk. To stimulate appetites, every meal should have one hot dish.

Cultivation of Asiatic Mung Bean Spreads

Not really a newcomer to the United States, the mung bean is new only as a commercial crop spreading to large acreage. Ancient as a source of food for man and beast in China, India and Japan, it reached American shores at least a century ago. Plant experts know it as Phaseolus aureus, one of the pea family.

Until the present war, the mung bean had been cultivated on only a few hundred experimental acres, principally in Oklahoma, as a hopeful but not highly successful competitor of the soybean and cowpea for livestock feeding. Its merits as roughage, as a substitute for alfalfa, and as poultry feed were recognized.

More than 100 varieties, differing in height and in size, shape and color of pod and seed were grown. They were known, among other names, as the Chickasaw pea, the Jerusalem pea, the Oregon pea and the Chop Suey bean. But, as a source of seed for sprouts for human consumption, the domestic crop was virtually ignored. Seed for sprouting came from China until the war cut off imports from that country.

Conestoga Wagon

The precursor of the great Prairie Schooner, the Conestoga wagon was a huge broad-wheeled, cloth - canopied wagon, usually drawn by six horses. Generally it was painted blue and was topped in red. It has been described as "one of the most distinctively American devices of all our transportation history." The Conestoga wagon originated among the Pennsylvania Dutch and took its name from the township in Lancaster county where they first were made. Records do not indicate definitely when they were built first but historians place it about the mid-18th century. The first turnpike road in the United States, from Philadelphia to Lancaster, over which they traveled, was opened in 1794. Occasionally they traveled independently but generally they went westward in caravans.

British Resort

One of the most spacious and secure harbors in Great Britain, Plymouth is also a summer resort, although its physical aspect reminds one of war more than pleasure. Towers of rock stand above the narrow beaches, and on high ground surrounding the harbor rise massive and ancient forts. Offsetting this martial atmosphere, however, are the bowling greens on the Hoe where men play just as Drake did, three centuries ago. Flags fly from bath houses and people on deck chairs sit sipping tea while watching the bathers. Such pleasures could only be resumed recently, as the destruction wrought by German bombing in Plymouth was second only to that of London.

Share Revenues

Municipalities benefited from an unusual amount of state legislation in the field of local fiscal affairs this year, with all 44 states in session taking action. Larger shares of state - collected revenues were granted local units in some states, increased direct financial aid was granted in others, while a dozen states made it possible for municipalities to build up postwar reserves. Of special interest to local officials was action of 10 states increasing municipal sharing of state-collected taxes, and of four states extending new or additional direct aid to localities. Following is a review of state legislative action in the state - collected locally - shared revenue field.

Veterans' News

(This official veterans' information service is prepared by the St. Louis Branch office of the Veterans Administration.)

Veterans in this area who plan to enroll in college for the first time this fall should apply immediately for their certificates of eligibility, if they wish to take advantage of free schooling and subsistence benefits offered by the government. Veterans Administration offices expect a flood of certificate applications during late summer and early fall, and the veteran who applies now will be sure of getting his certificate without undue delay.

A Veteran may apply for his certificate of eligibility at any Veterans Administration regional or at a VA contact office in a small town.

Any veteran who served at least 90 days (or less if discharged because of service-incurred disability), part of it on or after Sept. 16, 1940, and was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, is entitled to one year's schooling. In addition, he is entitled to a period of schooling equal to the length of time he spent on active duty in the armed forces. Accordingly, a veteran of 2½ years' service is eligible for 3½ years' schooling.

No period of eligibility can extend beyond four years, and the veteran must begin his schooling within four years after his discharge or the official end of the war, whichever is later (the official end of the war has not yet been declared by Congress.) Schooling must be completed within nine years after the end of the war.

The Veterans Administration will pay tuition and other normal charges up to $500 a school year; books and supplies are included in this sum.

If the veteran is unmarried, and does not have a full-time job, he is eligible to receive $65 monthly subsistence allowance. If he is married, the monthly allowance is $90.

VA advises all veterans planning to go to school: Don't get caught in the last-minute rush; auulp for your eligibility certificate now!

WORTH THE PRICE

"Gentlemen of the jury, you have heard the facts of both sides. Mr. Vernon had a public fight with Mr. Goodwin. Mr. Vernon had in his possession at the time one butcher knife, a club and a shovel. Mr. Goodwin had on his person one hatchet, an iron wrench and an iron bar. Both men plead 'not guilty,' each asserting a plea of self-defense. Have you reached a verdice?"

"We have your honor."

"And that verdict—"

"We, the jury, would have cheerfully paid $1 per man to have seen the fight."

ARITHMETIC

The school teacher was endeavoring to drum into her small pupils the fundamentals of arithmetic.

"Now, listen," she said rather desperately, "in order to subtract, things have to be of the same denomination. This is what I mean. Now, you couldn't take three apples from four bananas, or six plums from eight peaches. It must be three apples from four apples, and six plums from eight plums, and so on. Do you understand now?"

The majority of children seemed to grasp the idea. One chubby-faced youngster very near the bottom of the class, however, raised a timid hand.

"Please, teacher," he said, rather timidly, "you can take three quarts of milk from two cows.

A NAZI JOKE

It appears that Dr. Schacht visited Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and requested a loan of $50,000,000.

"What is your security?" asked Mr. Norman.

"Well, underground we have our unexploited iron and coal, and above ground, as a guarantee for this collateral, we have our Fuehrer."

"If you could reverse the conditions I might be able to accommodate you," replied the governor of the bank.

Use Jet Buzz-Bomb For Landing Craft

New Twin Fuselage Fighter Plane Is Announced.

LOS ANGELES. — Development of a jet-propelled buzz bomb that could be used aboard landing craft and of a twin-fuselage military fighter with a range of 2,500 miles was announced recently by two aircraft firms.

Northrop Aircraft described its buzz bomb as a single jet creation with a 30-foot wingspread, much like a small fighter in appearance, and revealed that it has been making such bombs for the army since the summer of 1944.

Designated the JB1A, it succeeds a twin-jet machine which Northrop built first for the army, patterned after its flying wing.

The company's announcement said it had no information as to how or where the army used the bomb. It added:

Improvements to the launching platform cut the length of the tracks to 50 feet, capable of installation on an LST. The backbone of each launching sled is a 14-foot aluminum tube with the bomb resting on cradles within the tube. It is catapulted into the air at 220 miles an hour with the aid of four rockets.

In contrast to the earlier twin-jet craft, which carried its bombs on either side of the engine, the JB1A's explosives are in magnesium cast housings within the wing on either side of the fuselage.

North American Aviation made public details of its P-82 twin Mustang—latest in the series of Mustang fighters which saw action on many war fronts. The company said the P-82 will replace the P-51H on production lines.

The new craft houses a pilot in each fuselage, and, North American's statement says, culminates five years of research. It has a 2,500-mile combat range, carrying full armament. Two 2,200-horsepower, 12-cylinder engines give it speeds in excess of 475 miles an hour, the company added, with efficient operation up to 45,000 feet.

Armament includes six .50-caliber machine guns, 25 rockets — which the company asserted provide the fire power of a light cruiser broadside—and 4 1,000-pound bombs. By use of adapters, however, two of the bomb racks can carry 2,000-pounders.

College Teacher Says 'R's Show One's Origin

CINCINNATI. — Americans from the Midwest, South and East tell where they are from, not by the way they mind their "p's" and "q's" but their "r's."

At least Miss Ruth Dowden, speech instructor at the University of Cincinnati, says she can spot the geographical origin of a person by the way he rolls off his "r's."

A midwesterner is a sure hit, she says. He pronounces all his "r's" alike.

An easterner or southerner gives the "r" the go-by—and "party" becomes "pahty." The speaker is pegged an easterner if he clips the "ah" sound short. Miss Dowden explains, and a southerner if he drags it out.

But an easterner also adds "r's" where they aren't needed — like "idear" for "idea."

If "r" gets proper treatment, Miss Dowden says, the person will toss off the "r" in "red" and "strong" one way and the "r" in "very" and "bird" another.

This Explains How Not To Buy Postage Stamps

CHEYENNE, WYO. — Next time a Cheyenne business man gives his secretary money with which to buy stamps, he's going to be more explicit in his directions. He handed his secretary a $30 check and told her to buy some stamps.

She addressed an envelope to the local postmaster, put the check in it and sent the letter on its way with nothing in it but the check. She explained later that she thought the postmaster "would know what to do with it and we'd get the stamps."

Baby Daughter Presented To Rope Skipper Aged 86

DES MOINES. — Luis Carrizales, 86, who says he keeps in physical trim by skipping rope, chopping wood and chinning himself 40 times a day, is the father of a baby daughter.

His 21-year-old wife gave birth to an 8-pound, 2½-ounce girl.

Carrizales, half Cherokee Indian and half Spanish, is the father of seven other children by a previous marriage. He works for a Des Moines thresher company.

China Appropriates Large Sum for Relief

CHUNGKING. — The central government will appropriate 600 billion Chinese national dollars for relief uses from now to the end of 1946, it was announced.

This fund will be in addition to 100 billion spent for the same purposes from June to September this year.

Columbus found a hemisphere. But could he find a residence here?

GUILT

The minister arose to address his congregation. "There is a certain man among us today who is flirting with another man's wife. Unless he puts five dollars in the collection box, his name will be read from the pulpit."

When the collection plate came in there were nineteen five dollar bills and a two dollar one with this note attached: "Other three pay day."

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A new school of thought advocating the necessity of a poor memory is refreshing. Its principals deserve consideration since there is a smooth-mouth fact that more trivial than important incidents occupy our time. More useless than worthy words are uttered; more wretched than happy hours claim parts of our lives. Without remembering we are able to meet each instant with a wholesome aspect. There is no excess burden left in the attics of our souls.

Hanging between the leafless limbs of perished years, the once gossamer web of ambition now sags with the dust of many failures; the weight of secret tears.

My cowboy acquaintance who rolls a tamale-shaped cigarette without licking the paper, has an opinion that the men who look at their watches with the greatest frequency are not going anywhere.

Wind like a tumbling wall pushed the cottonwoods from their places in the moving car lights and yellow leaves laced the darkness. Blinded and afraid, the small bird was unable to escape the impact with eternity. I knew that one of God's numbered sparrows had returned.

Time is a sea of solvent which consumes all that falls into it. The mountain and a lover's promise perish like snowflakes that lay for an instant beneath the sun.

Rich windows of diamonds and soft gold arrest many a hurried step on the city's weird street. When soulless rain spills through the night's leaky roof and fears walk in pairs past the shadows and sounds, jewelry windows seem brighter. They become cold flames that attract grounded moths; lanterns to light the faces of dreamers. Few of us that pause appear to possess the amounts of price tickets. We will be great spenders once our ships ever anchor in the harbor of tomorrows.

Apparently no one has foreseen the complication which may arise from the practice of West Texas counties paying bounty on the ears of coyotes. Some day an attractive young girl is certain to ask if money is paid for the ears of any kind of a wolf.

"Home Sweet Home" is a nice motto if you have some place to hang it.

How can we know the wealth of youth without having lived it? A child has no method to evaluate the worth of a coin until after it is spent.

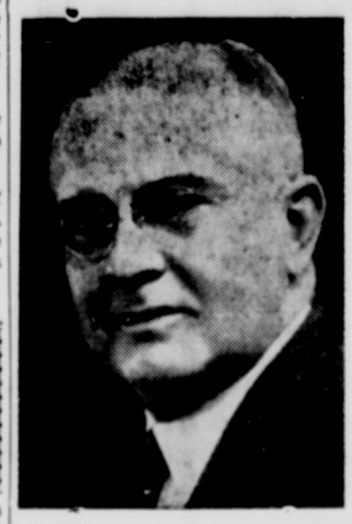
Bishop Harrell Will Speak on Methodist Hour Next Sunday



Bishop Coston J. Harrell, resident bishop of the Birmingham Area of The Metnodist Church and former Pastor of West End Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker over an independent network of thirty-eight stations on The Methodist Hour Sunday morning June 9th.

He will use as his sermon subject, "The Question Supreme." Bishop Harrell is the author of a number of best seller books in the religious field, prominent among these titles are "The Bible—Its Origin and Growth," "Walking With God in the School of Prayer," "Prophets of Israel," and "The Radiant Heart." He was elected to the episcopacy of The Methodist Church by the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference on June 22, 1944 and since that time has been serving as bishop of the Alabama, the North Alabama and the Cuba Conferences of his church.

The Methodist Hour is sponsored by the Southeastern and the South Central Jurisdictional Councils of which Dr. William F. Quillian, Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Paul Womeldorf, Tulsa, Okla., are executive secretaries and is is presented in cooperation with the Southern Religious Radio Conference.

The program, which is on the air every week in June, is heard over KGNC at 7:30.

Education does not mean teaching people what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do not behave. It is not teaching the youth the shapes of the letters and the tricks of numbers, and then leaving them to turn their arithmetic to roguery, and their literature to lust. It means, on the contrary, training them into the perfect exercise and kingly continence of their bodies and souls. It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by precept, and by praise, but above all—by example. —John Ruskin.

Disability Claims Increase Rapidly

Existing Backlog Seen as Delay for Many.

WASHINGTON. — The Veterans administration said recently that it was handling disability claims faster than ever before, but that claims were increasing even faster.

The result, the agency said, is a backlog of 210,000 claims for disability pensions. That backlog means delay for many applicants.

VA's disposition of claims has jumped from 3,000 cases a month in 1942 to a record 122,687 in October. But claims in October climbed to 176,921 — also a record — meaning that VA lost ground rather than gained.

The agency anticipates a load of 200,000 pension claims per month for the next year. Before V-E Day the rate was less than 45,000 a month.

In an effort to keep pace and whittle the backlog, VA said it was deferring further examinations of men already receiving pensions and is recruiting full and part-time medical service.

It has shelved, at least temporarily a new disability rating schedule that was to have become effective October 1 and required eventual re-examination of hundreds of thousands of men.

So far 1,387,241 Second World war veterans have asked for disability pensions, compared with 790,833 on V-E Day. Of these, about 790,000 actually are drawing pensions.

Living veterans of all wars now on the pension rolls total 1,375,000. Total disability payments now total more than 815 million dollars annually.

National Parks Expect 21 Million Visitors in '46

WASHINGTON. — The National Park service is preparing to play host to more than 21 million visitors at national parks and monuments during the 1946 season.

This estimate may be conservative. After totaling final 1945 travel figures, officials are almost hesitant to speculate on what is going to happen next year when tourists take to the road.

On one thing they are agreed. It is going to be one of the biggest—if not the biggest — travel years in America's history.

Even in midsummer, the park officials were beginning to be optimistic about the 1946 period. But what happened with the end of the war and gasoline rationing caused them to revise their calculations hastily upward.

In some areas, travel during the latter part of the park season jumped to around 400 per cent over the same 1944 period.

In all, visitors to the 169 areas in the national park system during the season that ended September 30 numbered 10,099,900, an increase of 2,214,528 over the 1944 travel year.

"We expect park travel next year to equal if not exceed the banner year of 1941, when some 21 million visitors were recorded," Associate Director A. E. Demaray of the park service said here.

Veteran Inventors Get Their Own Laboratory

WILLIAMSPORT, PA. — If you are a veteran and have an idea for an invention, there's a special laboratory for you at the Williamsport Technical institute, Williamsport, Pa.

Institute Director Dr. George H. Parkes says any veteran who wishes to obtain technical training or to experiment with an invention will be granted free use of all shops and laboratories of the institute, including the one described as the inventor's laboratory for veterans.

The program is designed to help ex-servicemen develop original ideas while studying any of the 50 courses offered by the institute to veterans under the G.I. bill.

This Man's Nazi Peeve Bared in Secret Records

MUNICH. — A German paper mill owner, peeved because the Nazis wouldn't give him enough business, was responsible for discovery of the master list of an estimated 10 million Nazi party members and their records.

Maj. William D. Browne, Portland, Ore., a security officer, found 40 tons of records at a paper mill outside Munich.

"The mill owner said the Nazis brought the records to the mill and told him to cut them up immediately," Browne said. "The owner wasn't interested in cardboard then and didn't like the Nazis anyway so he decided to do the job at his leisure."

Population of U. S. Is Over 140 Million

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The census bureau announced that the population of the United States passed the 140 million mark about October 1. Director Capp said that on this basis the population had increased by 8,330,725 since the 1940 census. This compares with an increase of 8,894,299 between 1930 and 1940.

There are 400 miles of shelves in the Library of Congress.

"I wonder why barbers find it so easy to make friends?"

"Well, they never hesitate to scrape an acquaintance!"

"Too bad about your hotel burning. Where there any fatalities?"

"Just the night watchman—we couldn't wake him up."
